TIENNENT'S Single and Double Strong ALE as Double-brown STOUT.—The undersigned Agents blessra, J. and R. TENNENT, of Chasgow, beg to call a attention of the trade to the advantages which this possesses over other importations.

It is acknowledged by all who have given it an unproficed trial, to be at least equal in quality to any import it is scarcely possible to insire it by land or water or riage, or by lengthenest storage (See Muspratt's Chemist of Arts and Manufactures). It fines quickly, and nothing but the best materials are need in its manufacture it possesses all the wholesome qualities, for which mediment heard recommended its use. (Certificates from the seminent chemists to this effect are in our passession.)

These qualities have gained for it the first position, the highest prices in the Melbourne and San Francismarkets, and as arrangements have been made to have constant supply on hand in Sydney, it is hoped that the here who have not hitherto given it a fair trial will ser so.

The Gundagui was desianed two days at Morna, a day and a half at Ecunca, where there sallors deserted the vessel; and she also remained a day and a half at Ford's station. She was only two nights under steams, and has performed the journey without meeting with any socident or sustaining any damage. The Gundagui was accompanied by the barge Durling, which she left at Fords, to discharge cargo; and she has brought 317 tons of goods up the reception of the Pright: being consigned to Beechworth. The Gundagui had on board at one time during the journey 35 passengers, and amongst them were six members of the fourth Australian Legislature, who landed at Ford's, to proceed to Beechworth. Some of the passengers were proceeding to Melbourne via the Murray and Beechworth, whilst others were seroute for Sydney. The steamer met the Melbourne at Clark's station, but had previously picked up is Richard Macdonnell four miles below Clark's, his Excellency having taken the Melbourne's door on the captain and the series of the design of the company in duck-shorting. The Gundagui at togethesa it Goolwa. Her engines are only 45 horse power, on the occiliating principle, and the vessel is admirably adapted to the purposes of river navigation. The accommodation for passengers is of a first-class character, the saloon and cabins bring on deck, and the fittings being of a very superior description. # The Sydney Morning Merald.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1856.

What have the Bunch gained by their vindic-tive opposition to the return of Ministers? Have they taken higher ground as a party, or reconciled the colony to the dominion of their chief? The sacred name of Liberty abused by their devices, and often profaned by their lips, will not disguise the barbarous and despicable will not disguise the barbarous and despicable tyranny which they attempted against the rights of the constituencies. To gratify their spleen against Mr. Donaldson, they set in motion the basest falsehoods. Witness for instance the wicked perversion of Mr. Donaldson's vindication of the rights of the Assembly against plotters who were demolished at the Theatre; witness the perversion of his address on the day of nomination. Mr. Donaldson is a bold and outsooken man. He pushed forward, in the place of gentlemen who have been known in our councils for years. It is the design to beat down the House to a dead level of radicalism; to clear it of all whese tone, style of language, and associations would much be the second of th

DONALDSON is a bold and outspoken man. He ever scorned the dictation of the "friends of the people," and dared to assume a position independent of the Bunch.

If anything could open the eyes of the con-stituencies the language of the Bunch the last few weeks must have produced that result. We have been told over and over again that DONALDSON is inferior to CAMPBELL; that MANNING is inferior to REDMAN!

By what standard is the measurement taken which leads to such a result? Can it be the good which leads to such a result? Can it be the good of the country—can it be any thing sare the ascendancy of a faction, and the consequent elevation of its ambitious head? We should entertain no fear of any policy proposed by men of intellect and property, whose hopes are based on the general welfare, whatever name they might bear what it is the men who must live—who look to -but it is the men who must live-who look to the colony as their estate, who would promise anything for a vote, who would oppose anything for a place;—these are the men whose defeat is essential to the public happiness.

The Electors have proved too that the Ministry of Mr. PARKER embodies the prevailing views of the colony. No doubt we shall have reasons, as thick as blackberries, to show why from the poll. The reason was not however that the opponents of the Ministry were either inactive or scrupulous. The result of the Hamlets election opened the eyes of many to the position of the colony, and they resolved that, in the remaining elections, there should be no mistake. The majorities are, all things conthat, in the remaining elections, there should be no mistake. The majorities are, all things con-sidered, enormous. During these elections there have been 30 polling places, all centres of population, groups beyond the excitement of the city agitators. The result is most impres-sive, and indicates the current of public sentiment even more fully than the gross numbers.

Thus the majority in favour of Ministers is as nearly as we can ascertain about 25 to 5. We are quite aware that the aggregate must be interpreted as the voice of the constituency in the Assembly, but the response of the elec-tions as an index of the public mind can only be ascertained by an analysis of the votes—where they were given, and under what influence.

The Ministers have been treated with an un-The Ministers have been treated with an unfairness not usual among English parties. however, best serve the country by meeting it first by full explanations, and then by silence.

We know nothing can stop the chatterers, whose words flow with an abundance proportionate to the paucity of their ideas. Let our Ministers respect their own rights and the wants of the country, and hasten the necessary business of the session to a close. We can do little but provide for the current expenses of Government. It is impossible at this time of the year to provide a new system of taxation—

Inz report of the meeting of mercantile men has been under the auspicies of the Long Mayon of possible possible ascene. nundation of one of the fairest districts of France, appeared in our issue a few days ago. The eagerness of the citizens of the capital to express their sympathy with the great Allied nation in a calamity almost national, shows how fast the principles of fraternity have taken hold of the hearts of Englishmen. No one can imagine that France needs the assistance of strangers. Her resources are enormous; and in the presence of such distress the will doubtless dispense her bounty with a liberal hand. The speeches displayed more anxiety than we should have thought it could be necessary to show—that an attempt to aid was should have thought it could be necessary to show—that an attempt to aid was but the indulgence of a sentiment of brotherly regard. The description of the disaster which fell on the simple and frugat husbandman and cotter of France is however heartrending. Few persons have any idea of the resistless might of a flood, although the inhabitants of this colony have had some very terrible examples. We cannot reclize the wasting, and destruction where the dwellings, crops, and farm establishments of 40,000 families, equal to 200,000 souls were swept away. In the early times the settlers on the Hawka-

In the early times the settlers on the Hawks-bury, were visited with a somewhat similar catasbury, were visited with a somewhat similar catastrophe:

In 1806 a disaster occurred, which reduced the elder colony to severe privation. The tempting fertility of the land bordering on the Hawksbury, the Nile of this hemisphere, induced the petty farmers, whose homesteads dotted its margin, to overlook its dangers. An inundation, romembered as the great flood, exceeded all former devastations: wast torrents, of which the origin was unknown, descended from the mountains, and pouring down with prodigious violence, suddenly filled and overflowed the channels of the river; and rising to the height of sixty and eighty fiert in a few hours, swept away the stacks of corn, the live stock, and even the dwellings. A vessel approaching the coast, saw fragments of the floating rains many miles distant from the shore. Thus, lately possessing a superabundant store; the poor suffered extreme destitution, and the price of maize and wheat rose to £5 and £6 per bushel.*

The occurrence of a calamity of a similar titution, and the price of maize and wheat rose to £5 and £6 per bushel.*

The occurrence of a calamity of a similar natures at Gundagar is fresh in the memory of our readers. Nor has England escaped similar disasters. A great flood was the subject of many pictorial representations in the London News a year or two ago. The various annals which have descended to us from very early ages, prove that such is the heavy price which well-watered and alluvial valleys often pay for the beauty of their scenery and the fertility of their soil.

people," and dared to assume a position independent of the Bunch.

This is an inexpiable offence. He is not formed to be a joint in the tail of a master whose ambition aspires to the akies, and whose principles crawl in the dust. Mr. Donaldson will not, however, be kept out of the Legislature long. There are several, who deem his abilities and patriotism worth a sacrifice, and who will facilitate the reparation of that wrong which has for the present dishonoured the Hamlets. The object of the Bunch is to destroy the political reputation, and to drive from the Assembly all our respectable public men who will not bow to their despotism. The constituencies have been insulted by the persons-pushed forward, in the place of gentlemen who have been known in our councils for years. It grievously miotaken. Nothing tends se much to restrain the ambition and animosity of rulers as the propagation of humans and brothesty sentiments among the people.

The speakers at the City of London meeting dwelt on the myssary of the revisiones which pergitted desclation in one hour to sweep syay. This one result was, however, marked as a great compensation, namely—while men are taught their helplessness, in the prosence of those forces which sometimes leap from their accustomed channels, they are instructed in their duty towards each other. They have a heart to feel and a hand to succour. Thus no sooner have the great powers of Nature performed the work of apparent raischief, than her gentle voice wakens man to repair it. The triumph elimind over matter reveals itself in the energy with which man wrestles with calamity. The promptitude with which the city of London came to the succour, of the French sufferers is another example of the mighty facilities of modern orivilization. The calamity was knewn in London before even Paris could move to help. Englishmen instantly gathered, and on the very night of their meeting an order for the payment of a large subscription was payable in Paris. Thus swift as the lightning could travel the tidings of British sympathy would add one, and not the least potent consolation to the high-minded and sensitive, but generous French people.

It has been represented to us that there are many French gentlemen residing in this city.

It has been represented to us that there are who would gladly send to their compatriots some token of their good-will. Would not the time be fitting to show that we participate in their sentiments, and, by uniting our donations, that we share in the wish that England and France may move together in the cause of humanity—infinitely more glorious than war.

. West's History of Tasmania, vol. 1, page 40,

A VERY beautiful silver medal has been finished by Mr. R. Lamb, the jeweller, of George-street, to the order of a gentleman who wishes by this present to express his admiration of the conduct of the little girl whose name it bears. It is nearly seven inches in circumference, and weight five ounces. The elaborate wreath of native flowers in high relief, which encircles the inscription, is extremely elegant, both in design and execution. It is inscribed as follows:—

"Presented to Mary Ann M'Cormack, in admiration of the devoted affection and heroism which she displayed in passing thrice through fluxes of fire to save her brothers and sisters on the night of the 13th August, 1850." On the reverse is a garter, with the legend "Fidele d is mort."

This memorial of a domestic tragedy at Braidwood may require some further explana-tion. The father of Mary Ann M'Cormack, a little girl of ten or eleven years of age, was away from his tent; his wife went in search of him, and was absent some time. Mary Ann and two of her brothers and a sister were asleep, when the fire broke out. In this dreadful situation she was awakened. The little heroine thought nothing of danger or suffering, but three times passed and repassed the flames to carry off her brothers and sister! The fury of the fire was shown by its fatal consequence.

The two boys and the girl all died from the effects of the burning. Nor did Mary Ann escape but with the utmost difficulty, and after

No fresh arrivals have occurred during the past week to affect this market. The passengers by the ship Vocalist have been readily engaged, being for the most part of a serviceable description. The supply of really good hands is still insilined, and the demand has been proportionately brisk during the week, but no shange has taken place in the rate of wages.

General useful men for light work in and about town are rather plentiful, but good hard working kinds, both male and female, are still scarce.

There is abundance of good water on the land. Plan on view at the rooms.

Terms at sale. VIROINIA WATER, PETERSHAM,

Close to the proposed PETERSHAM RAILWAY STATION, and distant about 4 MILES FROM SYDNEY.
This beautiful suburban estate commences at the RAILWAY VIADUCT, at P-tersham, a little beyond the Catholic Church, behind Weedon's, or the Cherry Tree Gardens, and from thence is bounded on the north-west, for a considerable distance, by the CANTERBURY HIGH ROAD; on the south-west, it fronts a branch of the GAMBLING OR LONG COVE CREEK; on the east it is bounded by the DENISON-ROAD; and on the north by FRAZER'S-ROAD and the RAILWAY. That portion of the estate now more properly under consideration is intersected by the Gambling Creek, which affords an ABUNDANT SUPPLY OF WATER, and as the lands on both sides are elevated with a gentle inclination towards the banks of the creek, a very small out; ay would be sufficient to collect a LARGE BODY OF WATER, and at thus increase the supply, as well as add very much to the beauty of the spot.

In the sub-division of this valuable property great care

cient to collect a LARGE BODY OF WATER, and thus increase the supply, as well as add very much to the beauty of the spot.

In the sub-division of this valuable property great care has been taken to provide good wide roads of acc as to the whole of the allotments, in addition to the main roads enumerated above. The allotments vary in extent from about it acres each, and as they are more or less consecutive, any purchaser who may desire to do so can increase his investment to the extent OF SEVERAL ACRES IN ONE BLOCK.

In calling attention to the sale of the Virginia Water Estate. MORT AND CO. feel bound to allode to a few of the more prominent advantages these lands enjoy, more especially with a view to their value as SITES FOR SURBURBAN RESIDENCES. They are distant only about 4 miles from the city, by the present road, and as they are close to the proposed Petersham Station, they will, upon the opening of that station, now it is believed determined unon, be brought within a PEW MINUTES RUN OF THE CITY BY RAIL. They adjoin the village of Petersham, already a populous suburb of the city, and daily rising in importance. The land is elevated, and there is ample aspace for GARDENS, ORCHARDS, and VINEYARDS. This latter is an advantage specially to be prized by those who seek to AVOID THE HIGH RENT4 OF THE CITY, and at the sam' time to establish a home for themselves within easy access of their places of husiness, and where, by being enabled to produce MILK. VEGE-TABLES, and FRUIT, they add very materially to the comforts of life, and at the same time reduce their expenses.

bines all that can be required by any family of respectability.

The rooms are all very lofty and well finished, with handsome French windows and Venetian shutters.

The COACH-HOUSE and STABLES, with the harness room, &c., form a range of buildings, detached from the house.

There are also TWO COTTAGES, weatherboard buildings, adapted for gardener's and conchman's dwellings, e', c' Close to the house is a well about 100 feet in depth, giving a NEVER-FAILING SUPPLY OF PURE WATER.

The GROUNDS are laid out with great taste, and under-drained to carry off the ru-h of water. They comprise an AREA OF ABOUT FOUR ACRES, divided into laws and pleasure grounds, the latter planted with ornamental and Indigenous trees and shrubs, also large kitchen garden.

under-drained to carry off the rn-h of water. They comprise an AREA OF ABOUT FOUR ACRES, divided into lawn and pleasure grounds, the latter planted with ornamental and indigenous trees and shrubs, also large kitchen garden.

At the foot of the grounds, on the south side is a substantially-built wharf and landing-place, with stone dock or boak harbour with entrance for butts—a portion of which was originally intended for bithing-house—an lies which might still be carried out at a trifling cost for roofing—in. This truly valuable property is bounded on the north by the road leading to the proposed Government Wharf; on the north-east by Sophienberg, the property of Whr. Feez; on the west by the properties of the Mewrs. Campbell; and on the south by the WATERS OF PORT JACKSON, to which it has about SEVEN CHAINS FRONTAGE.

To calling attention to the above brief description of WOOTTONGA HOUSE and GROUNDS, MORT and CO. desire to point it out as one of the most beautiful properties on the shores of the Sydney Harbur. In point of situation

IT IS EVEN WITHOUT A RIVAL.

It commands to the east and south an uninterrupted view upw-rd from Bradley's Head and Watson's Bry, including Double Bay, Potts Point, Garlien Lishad, the Domain, and Betanic Gardens, Fort Macquarie, Government House, and the City; and to the wastward Balmsin, the Parramenta River, and the country adjacent.

Without exception, the view from this property IS MOST PIOTURESQUE AND CHARMING, selfom equalled, and rarely indeed surpassed.

As an INVESTMENT it has a great prospective value, capoidally with reference to its very large water frontage, and the facilities will also be shortly available by the means of the New Forry Company's steamers, of a large size, which will call at this wharf, or by the horse and carriage ferry from Blue's Point, which is about a mile from Woottong a large size, which will call at this wharf, or by the horse and carriage ferry from Blue's Point, which is about a mile from Woottong a large size, which will be furnished with ea

Richmond Yown Property, for positive Sale.

M. R. GFORGE GUEST has received instructions from the Executors of the late John Robon Bowman, Esq., of Calcutta, to sell by auction, without any reserve, in one lot, on MONDAY, the 10th day of November n.xt, at 12 o'clock, at Mr. Edwin Young's, Union Inn, Richmond,

An allotment of lan! containing two acres and seven perches, situate in the centre of the town, having a frontage to March-street, continuing through to Lenno-street. This property is securely fenced, a cottage erected, orangery in full bearing and water on the premises; it is most pleasantly situated, directly facing the market reserve.

Property in this rapid progressing town is difficult to be obtained, an opportunity like this may not again offer; being sold in one lot, the fortunate purchaser (if so disposed) can readily divide it into six allotments, having plenty of frontage for that number. A comfortable conveyance is failly proceeding direct from Richmond to the railway terminus, retarning the same day; the company is formed for building the bridge over the Hawkesbury, consequently the road to Bathurst will proceed through Richmond.

Eligible Building Allotment in George-street, Windsor, with Cottage, &c.

JOHN B. LAVARACK has received instructions from Mr. John Asheraft to sell by public auction, at Mr. John McQuade's Hotel, Windsor, on MONDAY, the 20th instant, at 11 o'clock.

All that allotment of land containing 50 rods more or less, having 62 feet frontage to George-street, by a depth of 186 feet, together with dwelling-house, &c., and now in the occupation of Mr. Middleton.

The above is a most desirable property, being centrically situated in the town of Windsor, and is a splendid site for any kind of business, and as land in this favsured locality is nearly all in the hands of a few capitaities, it is not very probable that such another opportunity will again be offered to parties on the look out for a profitable investment, or for business men deairous of bec.ming their own landlords.

DODDS and CO. have received instructions from W. H. Warland. Esq., to sell by auction, at the Northemberland Hotel, West Maitland, at 12 o'clock, on MONDAY, the 15th of D. cember, 1856.
All that valuable ESTATE ON THIE PAGE RIVER, well-known as WARLAND'S LOWER PARM; comprises upwards of two thousand five hundred acres, which, with the pre-emptive right, is capable of depasturing 6000 sheep in average seasons. It is most abundantly watered, and fifteen hundred acres of which is not surpassed as first-rate wheat growing land, by any part of the Northern District.

The situation and excellence of the soil for all farming and agricultural purposes points it out as eminently suitable as a homestead. Within one mile and a half distance is in course of erection an extensive steam flur mill, which, when completed, will offer incalculable advantages to all the agriculturists of the neighbourhood, and especially to the fortunate owner of this appendid property, which only awaits the hand of indu-try to yield a princely fortune, there being a capital sale for any quastity of four, nearly the whole supply at present having to be consigned up on the drays from Maitland.

THE EYESIGHT.—Newly invented SPECTACLES enabling persons in advanced age to read with ease, and employ their sight at the most minute occupation. A. DE LISSA and CO.'s valuable tinted lenses, entirely superseding every other kind of glasses now in use. Immediately they are placed before imperfect vision every object becomes clear and datinct, and the most aged and defective sight is brought to its youthful, natural, and original state, at the same time keeping the eye at its required temperature, without its requiring frequent changes in glasses so dangerous to the effects of further powerful assistance. A large assortment of spectacles and folders, in steel, silver, gold, and tortoiseshell frames, to suit every sight. A. DE LISSA and CO. PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, 167, George-street.—
Mr. W. HETZER begs respectfully to inform his friends and the public in general that he is now prepared on his new premises to take likenesses of every size and description, from ministure up to a size hitherto unseen in this city. His newly-erected commodious glass pavilion, together with one of the largest machines lately imported, enable him to obtain likenesses of the greatest correctness and perfection, and the colouring and finishing will be done with the same care as heretofore.

done with the same care as heretofore.

OIGHT RELIEVED.—It is universally acknowledged that there is nothing so comfortable to the eyes as Pebble Spectacles. In the first place, they do not lose their polish and transparency, or become scratched by use, as all kinds of glass do, and so injure the eyes by refracting rays of light; and in the next place, from their natural, INMERENT coldness, they preserve the eyes from inflammation, if eyen used for a considerable time. To be had, warranted, in go'd, silver, invisible, and elastic steef frames. Also, the P-tent Panta Parise pile Spectacles, to enable the warrer to see objects far and near without removing them from the face. MOSS, 38, Hunter-street.

If YOU WISH a Good Head of Hair, try a bottle of PRATTS DEVONIAN CREAM, which is one of the best preparations extant, for atrengthening and promoting the growth of the hair.

This elegant and useful preparation is now extensively known and as extensively approved.

It keeps the hair from failing off.

It greatly embellishes its appearance.

It prevents it from turning prematurely grey.

Prepared only by W. PRATT, dispensing and family chemist, 48, Parrasuatta-street; and sold in Sydney by hing, and by Mr. Abraham, even not triylar incomplete. Mr. Watson, Civet Cat. TINE HEAD of HAIR.—STEPHEN BURNETTS
Boichrine, or Life of the Hair.—The expellent virtue which this elegant and pelluid preparation possesses, in its preservative and restorative qualities for the human hair, stands unequalled throughout the world. If the hair comes out with the comb or brush, this will prevent it; if it has fallen out, it reproduces it, even on hald places, at a late period of life, and frees it from scurf and impurity. It has been experienced by numbers of both sexes in this metropolis; and the success which has recently attended its use, after violent fevers that have threatened the irrecoverable loss of the hair, sufficiently evinces its restorative qualities; for where it has been applied it has never failed restoring its strength and reanimating it, so as to increase its growth, and render it more beautiful than ever. This bland and nutritive preparation exceeds all perfumery, such as Miccassar oil, oil of Columbia, golden oil, bears' greas', creams, or pommades of any description, and is especially recommended as forming the basis of a beautiful head of hair. It being, therefore, so efficacious and invaluable an article, it should be used by every person whose hair is in a declining or debilitated state. Prepared and sold only by STEPHEN BURNETT, practical hairdresser. Please note the address—STEPHEN BURNETT'S Haircutting' Shion, South Head Road, nearly opposite Baker's, pawnbroker.

OUR NEW CONSTITUTION.
The Bunchers are coming, O dear! O dear!
But leave them to us you'll have nothing to fear,
W'll soon acnd them off with a fiea in their ear,
To the tune of the O.d House in Park-street.

When people like Corbyn, for ten bob a day Will serve any mob who will double his ray, No matter what principle, we can but say It won't do for the Old House in Park-street, Phose Premiers who waste hour of legislation, In flinging the "eard of invitation" At the Oppo-tion, in a fit of rexation, Won't do for the Old House in Park-street.

Won't do for the Old House in Park-street.

Now, like the Coquette, we don't mean what we say,
But really mean Yes when we simply say may,
We'll shake hands with the "Bunch," if, when they come
this way,
They'll call at the Old House in Park-street.
